

CV Åke Reimer, borne 1945 04 04

I started my education in otorhinolaryngology 1973 in Malmö and was at the Malmö University ENT-clinic trained in microsurgery of the ear and audiological medicine. In the 1980th I was appointed senior physician with responsibility for otology and audiological medicine in Malmö. I left academic healthcare in 1990 for administrative reasons and was chief physicians in Trelleborg. I continued as consultant with advanced otological surgery and minor surgery like tube insertion, abrasio veg.ad., tonsillectomy, snoring operations, skin tumors).I performed about 1500 otological operations (myringoplasty, tympanoplasty, radical operations, stapedectomy) till 2005 when I had to finish microsurgery due to sequel of surgery for ablatio retinae.

I presented my thesis 1978 about activity of cilia of the mucous membrane. My thesis was finished with studies of the effect of bacteria on activity of cilia. Pseudomonas aeruginosa, the most common bacteria in chronic otitis media forms pyocyanin which is toxic to cilia. We found that Pneumococcus forms substances that inhibit the activity of cilia. We planned to identify the cilia-inhibiting substance of pneumococcus formed but my research was stopped by academic intervention.

In 1994 I worked out an agreement with Trelleborg's healthcare district to establish an ENT outpatient department in Vellinga municipality. I continued as consultant in Trelleborg with minor ENT surgery and otological surgery. I was a consultant in Kristianstad and trained a colleague to independent surgical competence. During two trips to Kenya (1998 and 2002) I conducted ear surgery for Rotary Doctors Bank and Kenya Ear Foundation.

The ENT outpatient department in Vellinga municipality was operated until 2017 and since then I work some days a week as a consultant and offer help with assessment of patients with problems mainly in the areas of middle ear diseases, external ear as well as hearing problems and tinnitus.
